2025 WWSP 90FM Trivia Rules

The Object of The Game

One: Have fun! Two: Amass points by answering Trivia questions correctly. Each question is worth up to 500 points, determined by the number of teams getting the correct answer. The team with the highest point total at the end of the contest wins. Questions will deal with any facts which the Trivia Oz determines to be Trivia. All rules are subject to change at the discretion of the Oz.

How To Play

Trivia 56: The Love Contest, begins at 6pm Friday, April 17th, and runs 54 hours through midnight Sunday, April 19th. In most hours, the announcers on WWSP-90FM will ask eight questions and each question will run for two songs. Earn points by calling in the correct answer to the current question before time runs out.

- The last question will run the length of one song.
- Questions in the Midnight and 6 PM hours on Saturday and Sunday will run the length of one song at least four minutes long.
- Singing questions will run the length of three songs.

Once you've decided upon an answer, start calling in early to improve your chances of getting in before time runs out. Expect busy signals on easier questions. Call in your answer using only the Trivia phone number found at the front of your copy of the New Trivia Times. Please dial carefully, especially at night. By calling, you give irrevocable consent for your voice to be recorded and electronically transcribed.

When your call connects:

- 1 The operator will ask for your ID number.
- 2 Provide your team ID number [found in the front of this book].
- 3 The operator will repeat your ID number, then ask for your answer.
- 4 If the operator didn't repeat your ID number correctly, it is your responsibility to repeat and confirm it before continuing with your answer.
- 5 Provide your answer. Please speak clearly. It is your responsibility to give the operator the opportunity to ask you to repeat your answer if necessary. They will not provide clues or say whether you are right or wrong.
- 6 Wait for your operator to thank you, then hang up immediately.

Each team may call in one answer per question. Multiple answers may result in no points for your team for that question. Multiple answers on multiple questions may result in your team's disqualification.

Point values for questions will be revealed after Trivia Focus, with a one-hour delay. For example, the values for questions in Hour 1 will be read at the beginning of Hour 3.

Your team may also earn points through Music Snippet questions, Trivia Stone stamps, and Running Questions. Read through your New Trivia Times for more information.

Disputing Answers

Listen carefully to answer the question as it is asked. Questions about public personas require their stage or performing names, unless otherwise specified. Darlene Love is a stage name. Darlene Wright was her birth name.

A complaint line will be open during most of the contest. We will announce when it opens and closes. The complaint line is for the purpose of discussing the validity and accuracy of a question or answer. You must have legitimate sources to contest our sources. The Oz shall determine if your complaint and/or source is worthy of taking action. If you have a problem with your score and how it compares with ours, remember, our total is correct.

Fair play

The rules of Trivia promote the mutual enjoyment of all participants. We will strive to maintain the integrity and reputation of the contest, and may disqualify any team that infringes on the rights of other players to participate in an honest contest.

Cheating will not be tolerated. This includes collaborating with other teams, disturbing items related to the Trivia Stone or Running Questions, making deceitful edits on public websites, or re-posting New Trivia Times photos on public websites or apps. There is no need to repost New Trivia Times pictures as they are available on the Trivia website. A password-protected space only for members of your team is OK.

By participating, you agree to follow these rules and proper sportsmanship. Remember also to return all borrowed books to libraries as soon as possible after the contest.

This is Trivia like it is played nowhere else. This is the biggest and best, so pull out all the stops and Let's Play Trivia, Fast Eddie!

new phones, who 'dis?

Just three weeks before Trivia 55 we found out we had to switch to digital phones. The new equipment didn't perform as advertised, and high error rates led third-party carriers to block our numbers. Quick thinking and Google forms courtesy of Q let us have a contest, but it just wasn't the same. I'm happy to report that with more time to prepare this year, we've got a robust, resilient phone system — with some really cool extras. Those extras and some functional differences are things I want you to be aware of going into Trivia 56:

- Every team has their own call-in number. Treat your phone number as a team secret, just like your Trivia ID number. The numbers aren't local, so if you somehow still have a landline with a plan that charges for long-distance, switch to a cell phone.
- All calls go into a queue. If you don't get a busy signal, you'll be in a short queue until your call is answered. This will often happen almost immediately. Queued calls are answered in order by any available operator until phones-down.
- All calls will be logged and recorded. Our system tracks every call, even busy signals and calls in the queue. Calls that reach an operator will be digitally recorded, improving complaint resolution.

Our tests suggest this new system will make it easier to get your answers in, be more fair to all teams, and eliminate the already rare instances of phone shenanigans. Because we can now track shenanigans and we don't want you to jeopardize your phone number, let's clarify:

- 1 You may not use automated mass dialing systems.
- 2 You may not conceal the number you're dialing from.
- 3 You may not make extra calls to the queue after answering.
- 4 Dialing behaviors we consider abusive may result in no points for that question. Repeated and extreme cases may lead to disqualification.
- 5 Team captains must acknowledge and inform all team members that calls will be recorded.

Remember, part of what caused issues last year was third-party providers' automated protection systems kicking in because the number of incomplete calls far outnumbered completed calls. We still have no control over their actions, but with one team per phone number, only your own team can overload your team's number.

Knocked out phone numbers can be replaced via the complaint line, but you'll have no way to call in answers until then. Not following calling rules will make fixing your number a lower priority than answering innocent teams' complaints.

The phone system is subject to change during the contest. While we've run lots of tests, we might adjust settings on the fly for optimization and will announce any relevant changes. Thank you for understanding, and for your cooperation in helping us continue to make Trivia a vibrant, community-based event.

During the course of the contest, there will be three Music Questions, each consisting of eight snippets of eight songs you must identify to receive Trivia points. Each Music Question will be played three times while active. Use this form to record your answers for Music Question 1.

Provide the song titles in the order they are played. You don't need to include the artist's name. For example, if you hear Silly Love Songs by Wings, just write down "Silly Love Songs." Each song is equivalent to a question. Points will be awarded accordingly. Turn this form in at the 90FM studios between 11:00 and 11:45am Saturday.

Running Questions

There will be two Running Questions during the contest. Each is an opportunity to get outside and get your blood pumping while you find the answers to questions about the neighborhood. Running questions will challenge your physical endurance, cleverness, and trivial knowledge.

Teams may send any number of representatives to each. Make sure they have your team ID number, a pencil, some type of measuring device, and perhaps jogging clothes. They can get there any way they want, following all traffic laws to [and from] the starting locations, but finding the answers to the questions themselves must be done on foot. To repeat: No wheels may be used during the questions. Exception: wheelchairs and strollers are allowed. Using other wheels will result in no points for your team for that question. There will always be ample time to answer the questions, as we do them on foot in an old-guy time of 45 minutes.

The first Running Question begins at 7am Saturday morning. Team representatives should meet in the big parking lot on the corner of Main Street and Strongs in downtown Stevens Point. If you get there early, save us a couple of parking spots in the SW corner.

The second Running Question begins at 7am Sunday morning. Team representatives should meet on the north end of the Metro Market parking lot at 1500 Pinecrest Avenue.

Please use caution traveling to and from the running question locations due to the high level of foot traffic.

See you there...

Music Question #2

TEAM ID NUMBER

|--|--|--|--|

During the course of the contest, there will be three Music Questions, each consisting of eight snippets of eight songs you must identify to receive Trivia points. Each Music Question will be played three times while active. Use this form to record your answers for Music Question 2.

Provide the song titles in the order they are played. You don't need to include the artist's name. For example, if you hear The Miracles' Love Machine, just write down "Love Machine." Each song is equivalent to a question. Points will be awarded accordingly. Turn this form in at the 90FM studios between 8:00 and 8:45pm Saturday.

THERAPEUTIC MASSAGE

From your Station Manager

The biggest weekend in the known universe is back, and I'm thrilled. From the bottom of my heart, thank you for supporting 90FM. This station could not provide our weird, wonderful, and occasionally romantical music and programming without you. Your support keeps our lights on, supports our award-winning broadcasting, and provides needed scholarships to students.

The buildup to this contest has been thrilling. Trivia 55 was my first ever experience with Trivia. I couldn't wait to be back at it when I woke up nice and early [5pm] Monday. This school year, from our annual Radiothon, to our tribute day to Australian psych rock juggernauts King Gizzard and the Lizard Wizard, to a femininom-inal Women's Day, a blast has been had.

Right now, the focus is solely on making sure that TRIVIA 56: THE LOVE CONTEST will be universally loved. Almost everyone on staff is brand new to 90FM. The only way this staff could be greener is if we were all dressed up as The Incredible Hulk. I am beyond thankful that everyone has put in their all to learn the ropes and put this contest together. I am also thankful for the volunteers behind the scenes that make this contest what it is, including DAC, Oz, and our community volunteers.

Thanks,
Brian Larson

The Trivia Stone

The Trivia Stone is a test of trivia teams' accuracy, endurance, cleverness, and trivial knowledge.

Throughout the contest, we will read clues to the Stone on the air. They will not be repeated or elaborated upon; they are what they are. You may record the clues to ensure accuracy. Follow those clues on your journey to get up to three stamps that will earn your team trivia points. One stamp is worth 50 points. Two will earn 150 points. Getting all three stamps will get you 300 points.

While following the clues, remember this: at no time will you be instructed to violate any laws or ordinances. If you find yourself breaking the law, you made a mistake. Under no circumstances are you to use any type of artificial light source at night except for your headlights. Do not use any other beams — you may be arrested for disturbing the peace. Please be respectful of the people who live along the Trivia Stone route.

It's getting harder to avoid roundabouts, so those intersections are back in play. If you come to a roundabout, enter it carefully after yielding to traffic from your left. Exit the roundabout on the opposite side. We will not tell you to turn left or right or even mention the roundabout at all. Just keep following the road you were on as if the roundabout wasn't there. No clue will be inside or near the roundabout.

To keep traffic manageable, there are two Stone Groups. Look at your registration sticker to determine which Stone Group clues — Group A or Group B — your team must follow to receive points. Be sure to follow the correct clues.

- Stone Group A Your starting point is in front of the 90FM studios on Reserve Street in Stevens Point, facing North.
- Stone Group B Your starting point is in front of the Plover Post Office on Chestnut Drive, facing West..

The Stone Clue schedule is posted on 90fmtrivia.org. Be ready for stamp pickup times as follows:

- Stone Group A 3:15am Saturday, 4:15am Sunday, and 4:15pm Sunday.
- Stone Group B 4:15am Saturday, 5:15am Sunday, and 5:15pm Sunday.

You will have 45 minutes to get each Trivia Stone stamp. Present the inside front cover of the New Trivia Times with your ID number sticker in it to get your Trivia Stone stamps. No stamps will be given without that stickered New Trivia Times. Stamps are coded by Stone Group. If you get a stamp from the wrong group, you will receive no points.

Present your stamped copy of the New Trivia Times in person at the 90FM studios 6:30-7:30pm Sunday to get your points. Do not drop it off early or bring it in late.

Good luck!

WSP TRIVIA 50
The LOVE Contest

Trivia Philosophy

What is love? Well, baby don't hurt me, but I think it's pretty cool. It makes the world go round. It's a many-splendored thing. And sometimes, it hurts. I guess what I'm saying is that it's a broad concept. As for The Love Contest, it's Trivia with the people you love. There's no better way to spend a weekend.

What about love? I'll get back to that topic in a minute. As I pen this, it's the end of January and writing the contest is well underway. Alex Neupert and I had a lot of fun writing the last three contests, but life gets in the way sometimes and she had to withdraw from writing this year. I want to thank her once again for all her hard work putting together entertaining questions for you to answer. Fortunately, Marna Andre and Frank Ross—two current UWSP students and longtime 90FMers—stepped into the gap. Also fortunately, the Trivia writing table is big enough for three and all the books that tend to get spread around during our writing sessions. I'm happy to report that both Marna and Frank have risen to the occasion. Show 'em some love if you see them at the station or out and about. They've earned it! But as I was saying...

What's love got to do with it? Perhaps no other topic has been the root of more pop culture than the concept of love. There've been scads of love songs, romantic films, will-they-or-won't-they TV series, and romance comics, just to name a few broader categories. So when it came to writing questions that had to do with this year's theme, The Love Contest, we didn't have to put any grand strategy or plan together: we just had to let pop culture wash across our consciousness. In fact, I'm pretty sure we accidentally wrote questions to the theme more often without trying than when we were actually making an intentional choice.

Do you believe in in love? I do. And I believe it's time for Trivia! We hope you love it...Let's play Trivia, Fast Eddie.

Music Question #3

| | | | |
|--|--|--|--|

During the course of the contest, there will be three Music Questions, each consisting of eight snippets of eight songs you must identify to receive Trivia points. Each Music Question will be played three times while active. Use this form to record your answers for Music Question 3.

Provide the song titles in the order they are played. You don't need to include the artist's name. For example, if you hear The Ohio Players' Love Rollercoaster, just write down "Love Rollercoaster." Each song is equivalent to a question. Points will be awarded accordingly. Turn this form in at the 90FM studios between 6:30 and 7:30pm Sunday.
